Advice for patients after a dental extraction

Day Surgery Unit
Patient Information Leaflet

Introduction

This leaflet is for patients who have had a dental extraction. It gives advice on what you should do when you get home, and contact information for if you have any problems relating to your procedure.

Advice

1. After a dental extraction, your saliva (spit) is likely to be pink or blood-coloured. It may stain your bedding on the night of the extraction. Try to swallow your saliva rather than spitting it out, as spitting may disturb the tooth socket, causing it to bleed.
2. If you do have fresh bleeding, do not worry. Rest in a sitting position and apply pressure by biting on a clean, rolled-up handkerchief for at least 10 minutes, until any bleeding stops.

If the wound is still bleeding after this time, continue applying pressure and contact us on one of the helpline numbers.
3. You may have some discomfort after the extraction. You will be given specific instructions on pain relief before you go home.
4. Avoid using mouthwash for at least 24 hours. After this time, you can clean your teeth gently. You will be given more instructions about this before you go home.
5. If you are concerned about anything, do not hesitate to contact the hospital on one of the helpline numbers.

If you need a sick note, please ask the nurse who books you in for the procedure.
